From the PNMC Office

We welcome Kenneth Hawes as the half-time pastor of the Prince of Peace congregation in Anchorage, AK. Kenneth has lived the majority of his life in Fresno, CA and is currently a student at Fresno Pacific University Seminary. He plans to graduate with an M. Div. in 2018. Ken is married to Stephanie and they have six children. The three youngest children moved to Alaska with their parents and the family dog. In thinking about this major transition, Ken reflected, "I am, first, overwhelmed by the loving welcome we have received. The congregation has been very helpful and we have been treated like family. I am most excited about continuing this journey with God and my family at Prince of Peace. I am looking forward to what He has in store for in this new season with this congregation.

The PNMC website, www.pnmc.org, is updated frequently. We are happy to post service opportunities, employment vacancies, conference events and a variety of helpful resources for you to access. Hard copies of the conference Directory have been Distributed. As contact information changes, we will continually update the online version. A new page was added this week. The Pastoral Leadership Team of PNMC is committed to providing a safe place for persons who have been victims of pastoral misconduct. Instructions and contact information are now posted so that victims can be connected with an advocate. PNMC's Sexual Misconduct Policy and misconduct prevention resources are available on the new page.

International Guest House

The practice of hospitality to those who come to us as strangers and leave as friends is at the basis of our faith as Mennonites and Anabaptists. We are in particular need of twelve-month host volunteers beginning April 2018. (Those serving a full year receive a monthly stipend and health insurance while all other volunteers receive full room and board.) Rotating duties include cleaning, maintenance, baking, gardening, and interacting with guests at breakfast & the evening tea. The three-pronged focus for volunteers is on hospitality to guests, being in community with one another, and your own personal time exploring our historic city. We are located in a friendly, established neighborhood with easy access to public transportation. Former volunteers at the International Guest House in Washington have found it to be a life-changing experience. This 50 year-old Christian ministry is under the auspices of the Allegheny Conference. Mennonite Central Committee

"The wind was a deep, threatening growl. I had knots in my stomach," says Bonnie Klassen, MCC area director based in Bogota, Colombia. She arrived in Cuba just hours before Hurricane Irma hit. After waiting out the storm for a full day, she headed to the north coast where the damage was most severe. She traveled – by vehicle, motorcycle and sometimes on foot in rubber boots – and listened as people described a storm that packed winds of more than 155 miles an hour, and seemed to hover for hours. "A lot of them talked about the sheet metal on their roof, lifting up and then banging down, over and over for hours, until it just blew away," described Klassen. "Most of the cement houses still had walls, but no roofs. Houses made of wood were tilted, or gone altogether – the remains mixed with household items like dishes.

Corn, plantain and bananas are common foods in Cuba, and Klassen says they were flattened by the storm. Klassen drove past orange and lemon groves where the ground was littered with fruit, most of which cannot be salvaged. Farmers are lamenting the loss of trees that are decades old. "We visited one farmer who had 55 kinds of trees and plants. When the hurricane came he boarded up his windows because he couldn't stand watching his trees die," Klassen says. "They were like his children." But Klassen says like many of the people she spoke with, the farmer is determined to rebuild. When the wind died down, the clean up began. "He cut all the big trees down, he had a plan to process the fruit into jam," she says. "It seemed to empower him as he faced something so devastating and unpredictable." Mennonite Church USA

The search committee for Mennonite Church USA's next executive director invites denomination-wide participation in a questionnaire to discern essential qualities and top priorities for the job description, and to nominate potential candidates. The survey is available in English and Spanish and will be available through October 16, 2017. "This is an opportunity for community discernment, and we want to encourage participation from as many people across Mennonite Church USA congregations, conferences and agencies as possible," says Joy Sutter, search committee chair. "The information collected will provide additional clarity on the kind of person we want to invite to serve in this important leadership position in our beloved church."

Mennonite Disaster Service

Please pray for our sisters and brothers in Puerto Rico who now face the daunting task of clean up after Hurricane Maria. MDS will be working with the MDS Puerto Rico Unit and MDS Region 1 to respond as soon as possible. Please also continue to pray for those impacted by Hurricane Harvey and the MDS volunteers serving in the area of Bloomington and Aransas Pass, TX. An assessment team is continuing to work in Florida in response to Hurricane Irma. Four volunteers from Lancaster County Unit are now in Florida assisting with clean up. MDS has been humbled by the outpouring of financial support for the hurricane recovery efforts. The trust donors put in MDS to respond is a tribute to the hard work and dedication of the thousands of volunteers who have served. Whether you donate, volunteer or promote MDS participation in your church, thank you! Donate here.
